

CHEF SPOTLIGHT

Chef Roberto is an alumnus of the Culinary Arts Institute at Hudson Community College in Jersey City, New Jersey. Originally from Brooklyn, New York, he grew up in the Ironbound section of Newark, New Jersey, where multicultural and diverse food is predominant. Roberto's passion for food started in his mother's kitchen. C.A.I. Chef Paul Dillon gave Roberto his first professional job at Latour French American Bistro. He has worked for, and with, many wonderful chefs who inspire him to keep perfecting his craft. Roberto looks forward to the next chapter in his culinary career and collaborating with all of the influential chefs to come.
